DEMOCRAT
LEANNE
KRUEGER ★ BRANEKY
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

A leader who won't back down. Ever.

Leanne is taking on the party bosses... and winning.

- When corporate interests tried to pass a bill to make it harder for first responders to get health care after being injured on the job, Leanne stood with police and firefighters and helped save their benefits.
- When community advocates demanded more action on gun safety laws, Leanne stood up to the NRA and co-sponsored legislation requiring universal background checks.
- When political games forced unemployment call centers to lay off hundreds before Christmas, Leanne worked to get those jobs back and ensure the unemployed get access to unemployment benefits.
- When Harrisburg bosses did nothing about unwanted sexual advances by legislators, Leanne drafted a “me-too” bill to stop legislators from using taxpayer dollars to settle sexual harassment cases.

Leanne Krueger-Braneky

A career spent fighting for Pennsylvania's hard-working families and small businesses

Leanne made history in 2015, winning her legislative seat against all odds — becoming the first woman to represent the district and flipping a district held by Republicans for years. Since then, she's built a reputation for tackling the toughest issues in Harrisburg — taking on special interests, oil companies, and party bosses from both parties. Prior to elected office, Leanne served as the first Executive Director of the Sustainable Business Network of Greater Philadelphia — helping the organization play a large role in making the Philadelphia region the most sustainable in the nation by attracting more federal green jobs funding than any other region in the United States.
